Pearl Translates Home Upgrades into Value

High-performing features such as HVAC, solar, and insulation can increase home value – when they’re properly documented. A Pearl Certification helps ensure the investments you make in your home are returned to you at the time of sale or refinance.

When we complete our work, you’ll receive a Pearl Certification Report and Appraisal Addendum, which can help your home sell and appraise for more.

I understand the value that high-performing, energy-efficient homes bring to the market. The missing link is getting relevant information about those homes to agents and appraisers who are not building scientists. Pearl provides the missing link.
